Section A

Remembered Places

Answer Question 1 in this section.

Read Text A and Text B, printed below and on page 3.

Compare and contrast how the writer and speaker in these extracts present Paris. You should refer to both extracts in your answer and consider:

- the language choices made and their likely effects
- the different audiences and purposes of the texts
- aspects of mode.

Text A

This is an extract from The Most Beautiful Walk in the World: A Pedestrian in Paris by John Baxter.

Every day, heading down rue de l’Odéon toward Café Danton on the corner of boulevard Saint-Germain or toward the market on rue Buci, I pass them.

The walkers.

Not all are walking, however. They’d like to be – but their stroll around Paris isn’t working out as they hoped.

Uncertain, they loiter at the foot of our street, at the corner of boulevard Saint-Germain, one of the busiest on this side of the Seine. Couples, usually, they’re dressed in the seasonal variation of what is almost a dress uniform – beige raincoat or jacket, cotton or corduroy trousers, and sensible shoes. Huddling over a folded map or guidebook, they look up and around every few seconds, hopeful that the street signs and architecture will have transformed themselves into something more like Brooklyn or Brentwood or Birmingham.
Narrator: the city of light is the capital of France (.) and the epitome of romance (.), culture (.), and beauty (2) home to over two million people (.). Paris straddles the river Seine and is divided into twenty districts called arrondissements (.) each with its own personality (2). The heart of Paris has changed little since the mid nineteenth century (.) when its grand boulevards and art nouveau apartments were built (1). Strict planning regulations have preserved its layout (.) and ensured an almost total absence of high-rises (1) to fully appreciate the city’s charms you’re best exploring Paris on foot (1) take a leisurely stroll along the Seine (.) or wander the cobblestone streets of Montmartre (6).

[Written text appears across screen]: Clos Montmartre near the junction of Rue de Saules and Rue Saint-Vincent is the last remaining vineyard in Paris.

Narrator: Paris probably has more familiar landmarks than any other city on earth (1). Once a fortress and royal residence (.) the iconic Louvre is the city’s greatest gallery (.) specialising in art from the middle ages to the 1848 revolution (3) stroll the Champs-Elysée to reach the mighty Arc de Triomphe (2) commissioned by Napoleon to celebrate his greatest military victories (4).

Transcription Key:
(.) pause of less than a second
(2) longer pause (number of seconds indicated)

Section B
Re-creative Writing

Answer both questions in this section.

02 Refer to Text A from The Most Beautiful Walk in the World: A Pedestrian in Paris by John Baxter.

Recast this as the section of the Café Danton’s website where the cafe’s location in Paris is described.

You should consider:
- what will appeal to visitors about the location
- how the local area might best be described
- the use of an appropriate register for the task.

You should write about 200 words. [15 marks]

03 Identify four different examples of language features in your writing and explain your reasons for using them.

In your commentary you should:
- consider the importance of purpose, audience, mode and genre in your language choices
- consider how you have used language to shape your intended meaning
- structure your writing clearly to express your ideas.

You should write about 200 words. [20 marks]
